

My ceramic art studio is located at The Loft Artist Association in Stamford, Connecticut. The LAA comprises fourteen artist/studios and a gallery space.

I am a Psychotherapist specializing in Art Therapy with my own private practice. The studio space is also utilized as my Art Therapy office. The studio is 275 square feet, I have a kiln and wheel there.

A six week trip to Ravenna, Italy in June of 1996 changed my life when I was awarded a three-year scholarship to study Classical Italian ceramics and Byzantine mosaics from the Emilio Romagna region and Italian government at the Elbe Steiner school and Academia Bella Arte.

Returning home to CT, I opened my ceramic studio in the South end of Stamford at the Loft Artist Association building. Now creating pottery with a flair in Italian design bringing old world elegance to modern day charm with functional tableware and whimsical designs for everyday use.
